

Anonymous

1. Adjective
2. Year
3. Year
4. Name Of A Person
5. Location
6. Verb
7. Plural Noun
8. Noun

Anonymous

The _____^{Adjective} knit online hacker collective went on the rampage _____^{Year} _____^{Year} after news broke that several Megaupload.com staff members had been arrested, including its founder _____^{Name of a person} Dotcom. They are accused of online piracy and the popular file sharing service was pulled from the _____^{Location}.

Within minutes after the news spread, the so-called hacktivists had _____^{Verb} and OPMegaupload had begun in what became an evening of nonstop DDoS attacks likened to the virtual equivalent of a nuclear bomb on pretty much any company or government entity pro SOPA or PIPA.

We Anonymous are launching our largest attack ever on government and music industry sites. Lulz. The FBI didn't think they would get away with this did they? They should have expected us, they later posted on Pastebin, along with their _____^{Plural noun} and personal information of various heads of organizations.

If you had any doubt as to Anonymous abilities yesterday proved otherwise, in what became an awe inspiring display of power. Within an hour most of the targeted websites were out for the count, throwing up error pages or not even loading at all.

You feel censored yet? We sincerely hope you like your own _____^{Noun} the hacker collective said in a comment directed at the FBI.