A Gift For Cupcake

One day, Diva decided to go _____ Verb ending in ing to get her Cupcake a Christmas gift. She invited Kimilei and Inmy to join her. First they went to a _____ Noun store. There she bought some sexy _____ Noun plural and some vibrating _____ Noun plural. But she could not find the perfect gift for Cupcake. So next the ladies went to a _____ Noun shop. There they ran into Dante. He was holding a dog _____ Noun and a _____ Noun with a smile on his face. They asked if he knew of any good gift ideas for Cupcake, but he said "no". They shopped at a few more stores with no success, although Inmy did buy a lovely stuffed _____ Noun and Kimilei got a fun electronic _____ Noun. But still no gift for Cupcake. Stopping at _____ Restaurant for lunch, they traded ideas while they noshed on soggy tortilla _____ Food plural. Suggestions included the ideas of erotic _____ Noun plural _____ Noun hardware, leather and _____ Noun. But none of those ideas seemed good enough.

Then it happened.

"I know"; _____ Past tense verb Diva "I'll get him a _____ Noun"; And with that she did. And later on Christmas day, when Cupcake opened his gift, he proclaimed that it was in deed a very pretty gift. The he ate it.
