Best Lost Homework Excuse Ever

Dear Teacher,

I am writing to inform you that my _____<sup>Noun</sup> is not with me. I am sorry to inform you that my _____<sup>Noun</sup> did not _____<sup>Verb</sup> it this time; however, a giant silver _____<sup>Adjective</sup> _____<sup>Noun</sup> climbed through my window and _____<sup>Verb</sup> it from my desk. I didn't even know what was going on, but apparently the gorilla _____<sup>Verb</sup> from the _____<sup>Noun</sup> and likes to steal homework. I am sorry this has happened. Will you please let me make up the homework assignment?

Sincerely,
