Word Wall

1.	Noun
2.	Verb
3.	Noun
4.	Noun
5.	Adjective
	Adjective
7.	Noun
	Verb
	Adjective
	Adjective
	Verb Ending In Ing
12.	Noun
	Past Tense Verb
	Adjective
15.	Noun
16.	Noun
17.	Adjective
18.	Adjective
19.	Past Tense Verb

Word Wall

There once was a boy named Stephen. Stephen found himself in abecause he had to a police officer in a play for school, and he felt a sense of Sthephen knew all of the about cops and that many of them weretoward that profession. Given his knowledge he wanted to bein the way he approached hisof a police officer so that he would notthese people. He began asearch forwebsites online to figure out the facts about cops so that he would not end upthem in the play.
After looking at everyhe began to realize that cops are people who should bePast tense verb
. Then Stephen began to write his lines for the play, trying to make them asas possible. When he went to the next rehearsal asparked. The teacher opposed Stephen's choice to the police in anway because that part was supposed to bring comedy to the play. Stephen felt because the play was tomorrow and he didn't want to change his character, so he decided he would stick to it. The crowd at the play wasby Stephen's character and gave him a standing ovation for his performance.

©2025 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.