a busy day

Today was the busiest day I had ever had. I got all these crazy and _____ Adjective _____ phone calls. The craziest one was from this _____ Adjective _____ lady asking for a _____ Animal _____ that all was quiet until... I got the quietest phone call of all. The ring was the funniest ring I had heard all day. When I answered it I heard a funny voice. "

Hellooooo,"; a voice said "would you like to purchase a _____ Animal _____ today?" "No thank you," I said to the sarcastic man. After that I hung up. The next thing I had to do was write a letter. I was having a difficult time coming up with the 5 greatest adjectives, antonyms, synonyms, homonyms, and adverbs. I needed to write biggest and most beautiful letter you could ever think of. This would be hard though because my boss is a very cruel boss. In fact he was the cruelest boss ever. The thing that made me the maddest was that I had to write a ten page letter to him then send it to Katmandu. I also need to make a duplicate of it for myself. I just made a very profound statement. Ahhhhhh and now im frantic because we half to evacuate the _____ Location _____ because there is a fire. Today was a very _____ Adjective _____ day.
