

The Car Accident

1. First Name
2. Noun
3. Number
4. Frozen Liquid
5. Noun
6. Number
7. Noun
8. Frozen Liquid
9. Number
10. Number
11. Noun
12. Frozen Liquid
13. Noun
14. Noun
15. Noun
16. Noun
17. Body Part
18. Direction
19. Body Part
20. Noun

The Car Accident

One day _____^{First name} coming home from work, on a very icy and snowy day. The _____^{Noun} were terribly slick. She was angry from work that day. She was going about _____^{Number} miles per hour, when she hit a patch of _____^{Frozen liquid}. She spun in a circle, and the _____^{Noun} went up on _____^{Number} wheels. She hit the breaks, and stopped the car. She began to hold her chest and hyperventilate. She turned the _____^{Noun} around and drove further down the road, when she hit a second patch of _____^{Frozen liquid} and did a _____^{Number}. She made the car go on to _____^{Number} wheel. She stopped the _____^{Noun} the second time. She grabbed her chest and screamed. She decided to get off the interstate. She got highway, she hit a third patch of _____^{Frozen liquid} and the _____^{Noun} was done for. She rolled the _____^{Noun} twice down a hill and through a fence. She was fine, but she was in tears and on the phone with a cop in two seconds, only because her phone pocket dialed the cops. The car was on its top and she was crying so hard that she passed out. The cops flipped the _____^{Noun} and used the jaws of life to cut the _____^{Noun} open to get her out. She was taken to a hospital only to find out she had broke her _____^{Body part} bone and _____^{Direction} _____^{Body part}. She remembered to never drive her _____^{Noun} on a snowy and icy day again.