Jimmy and The Human Animal.

It was a cold night as Jimmy sat up in bed eating cold toast and drinking water, Suddenly Jimmy heard a loud BANG! come from downstairs, he got out of bed grabbed the gun from under his pillow and tiptoed down the stairs. In the hallway he saw a piece of wood he walked around it quietly and peeked into the livingroom, there right in front of him stood a Animal holding a Weapon and a pen. Jimmy ran back up the stairs leaped over his bed, opened his window and shouted "HELP!"; But there was no response. Jimmy heard the pig running up the stairs he made the quick decision of climbing out of his window. Once his legs were dangling out the window he looked down and it seemed higher than he imagined and seemed a bad idea but it was too late now he was holding onto his windowsill and could hear the heavy breathing of the pig in his bedroom.

He let go. It seemed as if he closed his eyes and when he opened them he realized that he had landed on a fridge. His back was in pain but he knew he needed to find help. Jimmy started running and when he looked back, to his horror he saw the pig standing in his front doorway, staring him in the eye with a blank expression on its face. The pig started sprinting after Jimmy. Jimmy already felt like giving up but in his last attempt to get away he grabbed a brick from off the road as he ran and threw it behind him at the pig it hit the pig in the face, the pig tumbled and fell. Jimmy felt relieved so he sat on a bench closed his eyes and started trembling uncontrollably as his mind contemplated on what just happened. Just then Jimmy felt a tap on his shoulder he turned round and his heart stopped as he saw an 8 foot tall rhinoceros stood upright , it raised its foot, Jimmy jumped off the bench as the foot smashed it into splinters.
