

A dream

1. Noun
2. Noun
3. Noun

A dream

It all started the night my crazy friends and I decided to go watch the Hunger Games. We did what every normal person would do, buy a ticket and popcorn. Next, we casually walked into the room where the movie was being held, and took our seats. After a while, we found it peculiar that no one else was at the movie with us, but we thought less of that because it was late. Then, all of a sudden, the movie turned on, and a bright light consumed the room almost blinding us. While shielding our eyes, we find ourselves being sucked into a mysterious place. After our eyes adjusted to the light, we noticed that we were in the Hunger Games! "Wow! I can't believe this is actually happening!", I said. We had turned into some of the 24 competitors of the game! We went straight to the game without any training at all! As the starting bell rang, we _____^{Noun}_____ off to get a backpack and an item for defense. As I grabbed a backpack, I also _____^{Noun}_____ and took with me a laser tag gun. It turned out that if you get tagged, you then get zapped back into the real world. Before I knew it all my friends were being zapped and sent back. Now, I am all by myself.

While I quickly took defense behind a big tree, I ran into Katniss. We simultaneously said, "Ah! Where did you come from?" She was about to get me out when I convinced her that we should team up and try to win together. She accepted my thrifty proclamation. We made a swell team, the two of us. Once, when someone tried to get me out, she stepped in and saved me. Out of nowhere, a voice bellowed and said, "You two can't team up, or bad things will happen! As intimidated as we _____ Noun we yelled, "Try us!" All of a sudden, there was a thunderstorm that started to make the arena flood. I became very scared and mumbled, "Oh! We shouldn't have done that." We found a tree and climbed it so we wouldn't drown. After the water began to dry up, we noticed that we were at the bottom three competitors. I started to climb down the tree, but then I got tangled in a branch. As Katniss helped untangle me, someone got her out. Fury raged inside of me and I screamed, "No!" I then got up and with my quick reflexes, I slapped the laser tag gun out of their hand and I tagged that person out. I won; I am the winner of the Hunger Games! And when I thought it can only get better, my alarm clock wakes me up, and I find the Hunger Games book upon my face.