finding bigfoot's little brother

Once upon a time John went looking for Bigfoot's little brother Jack. Some one said he lives in Ohio so he flew there in a purple plane. Yikes, your plane is about to wreck on the island but he safely parachuted in Lake Erie. You dry off and start looking for Jack. He finds a forest and he think he sees him. He runs toward it, but instead he loses sight of him and find a sticky frog Yuk! He later found a tent food and his friend Jerry. He asks if he wants to help you look for Jack and he said "Awesome, I'll come with you!" The two of them head out in the morning and look for Jack. He soon finds a mysterious footprint by your campsite and quickly takes a picture of it. Then he hears an awkward yelling about 2 miles from your tent.
