

Welcome to New York

1. Adverb
2. Location
3. Noun
4. Verb - Past Tense
5. Noun
6. Noun
7. Noun
8. Verb - Past Tense
9. Adjective

Welcome to New York

One day I was _____ Adverb rushing through the airport. It was the one family vacation we had every year, so everyone was hoping we caught our flight to _____ Location. Suddenly I dropped my _____ Noun. I couldn't believe how careless I had been! Picking it up, I _____ Verb - Past Tense around to find my family. In relief, I saw someone with the same _____ Noun as my dad, and followed him. I handed the _____ Noun my ticket and rushed onto the plane. The man next to me was speaking a forien language so I simply put on my head phones and listened to the soothing sounds of my _____ Noun. Once the plane had landed, I _____ Verb - Past Tense into the airport. My family was nowhere to be seen. I went up to the front _____ Adjective and looked at the sign: "Welcome to New York."