Tough Mudder

Every weekend, including Sunday Holiday Day, thousands of people gather in cities across the country to compete in the Tough Mudder, Probably the Adjective Event on the Planet. Benefiting the Wounded Warrior Project (with $3 million raised so far!), the course consists of Number miles and 25 military style obstacles- all that stand between the neon Color headband that separates the Noun - Plural from the boys.

Scraped Part of Body and sprained Part of Body are just par for the course as participants swim through dumpsters of ice cold water, run through fire, Verb - Base Form through mud, scale 12 foot walls, and get electrocuted with 10,000 volts of electricity. Especially on team Honey Animal, camaraderie and teamwork always come before course time, and Tough Mudders never wine- kids whine.

Crossing the finish line, all fears overcome, it is hard not to join in the chant... WE ARE...TOUGH MUDDER!!
HOO RAH!
