The Story of DayNine

Noun
Noun - Plural
Adjective
Adjective
Verb
Adjective
Noun
Adjective
Adjective
Adjective

The Story of DayNine

A long time ago, back 1991 when things like Noun and Noun-Plural were "in," PeopleSoft wa rapidly growing from theAdjective vision of Dave Duffield and Ken Morris. Just down the road a tean of visionaries were gathering to their place in the industry.
Over the next five years, Ramos & Associates would continue to grow. During this time their loyalty and commitment to PeopleSoft and its focus on their customer's success remained As a result, the were repeatedly recognized as PeopleSoft's most implementation partner. In 1996 after growing to over 200 of some of the most consultants around, Ramos & Associates ultimately joined with Cambridge Technology Partners.
Fast forward to 2009. This is when the Adjective Tim Ramos, along with the Jeanne Bauhart and the John Harless, founded DayNine Consulting, and once again became a Adjective partner with Dave Duffield and co-founder Aneel Bhusri's in their new venture, Workday.
Over the next couple years, DayNine continued to rapidly grow and round out the leadership team adding the Adjective Bill Catalano and the Adjective Darrell Pope, along with industry veterans including theAdjective Jim Lambert and theAdjective Thor Nicholas. Again, leveraging a history of success and common core values with Workday, DayNine is building a place to work that is an whose culture is	Adjective	_ with a new and	Adjective	team. T	Together, Workday	and DayNine are v	well on their way to c	creating yet a	nother game changi	ng and	Adjective	partnership.

©2024 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.