My puppy

When I was six years, my mother gave me a beautiful puppy as a gift. I named it Proper Noun because I really Verb - Past Tense Mickey Mouse Preposition or subordinating conjunction that time. First, I was so happy with my puppy that I wanted share my broccoli and beans with it. l with my puppy all day and at night I put it on my bed when everybody was sleeping.
After a week I was jealous of my puppy because my oldest sister paid more attention to it than me. One day, I took to school inside my backpack; he was really scared when he were many children. He run out of the classroom and I run preposition or subordinating conjunction it but it run than I did. I said, ", Mickey come back." I looked for it everywhere in my school but I could not find I walked to my classroom; I was crying. I never saw my beautiful puppy again since then. I will remember Mickey forever.
