Breaking in

One day the _______ school doors did not open. The _______ students were ready for another Adjective day of learning, but no matter how hard they pulled, the Adjective doors would not open. Finally, Henry, the Adjective boy in his level said, "let's climb in through the window." All of the other students looked up to Henry, and said "yes" without any question. All of the students except Adjective Hannah. Adjective Hannah did not think it was a safe idea to climb in through the window. She quietly told the others this, but they called her a "scaredy-cat" and followed Henry to the window. Henry looked up at the window with ______ legs. He didn't want the others to see, but he was scared. He turned around and smiled nicely. When he saw Hannah, she was shaking her head. Then Hannah started to sing a Adjective song. Everyone was startled and turned to look at Hannah, singing in her Adjective dress. She was singing about a Adjective boy who fell off of a Adjective roof. along with Hannah. Henry climbed up anyway, because he was very Adjective. When he got to the Adjective window, he saw that it was locked. He was very high up and became very scared to climb Adjective fire truck. They climbed up and brought him down to the Adjective ground. Once they scolded him, they told all the kids that school was Adjective and that they could all go home and play.
