Dear Life

Dear life,

When I was younger I always wanted to grow up and be _____ a roller coaster in my back yard, a ton of _____, eat pizza every day and manage not to _____ a day in my life--this is beginning to sound like the Neverland Ranch. Then time passed and you crushed this dream like a stampede of wild _____.

You began to teach me what _____ was all about and it isn't about _____ or acknowledgement. Life is about leaving an impression. Its about changing the things that you can change, seizing every _____, and conquering every attainable _____. You provide time for us to learn from mistakes and alter our _____.

You encouraged me to be _____ and competitive through your many sometimes _____ and poorly timed events. You never hesitated to provide me with enough material to write _____ _____ novel, although, I wish you had granted me with the creative ability to do so--perhaps then I could have had that back yard roller coaster!

Yours

Truly,

Elizabeth
