

Christmas 2008

1. Noun

Christmas 2008

There is never a dull moment at grandma's house, especially Christmas 2008! It was a perfect day to go ice fishing, there wasn't a _____^{Noun}_____ in the sky and the sun was shining, so we did just that! My cousins and I ended up staying there all day. My teeth were chattering and my toes were numb by the time we decided to head back, it was also dark so thank goodness the snowmobile had headlights! Before we knew it, the trail had disappeared and the snowmobile was low on gas! My stomach started turning when my cousin yelled back "we're lost" Being lost, cold and in the dark was the last thing a 3rd grader like me wanted to be. We drove around in the dark cold night for 45 minutes when we stopped at a house, that had their lights on. Soon enough my family showed up worried sick with tears rolling down their cheeks. 5 miles later we were home and warm. Although my family gave us a hard time about getting lost, it never felt so good to be home!
