my 1st day of middle school*

I remember _____ Adverb enough what my first day of middle school was like- As i went into the deep red brick and cement building with my parents, I imagined just how humongous this _____ Noun _____ Noun was surely to be, before I _____ Verb - Base Form inside with my parents. When I was in sixth grade I knew I had a lot to learn about this place. For starters, we started to get lots more homework than we had in fifth grade. Also, I learned that quite a few teachers are more strict about quite a few rules- gum is a good example. Rooms like the art room, industrial technology, music, the _____ Noun, the gym, and the cafeteria are all gum free.

_____ interjection, enough about the rules, here's some I experienced during sixth, seventh, and eighth grade: If you ask me, middle school has lots of ups and downs. Here are some ups- school plays, we once had salad bar, we can do science labs now, we're old enough to play sports now, we have more freedom, field trips like the sixth and eight grade ski trips, before and after school clubs like the hut, we have a pool, and there are many other ups about the middle school too. Now for the downs of CCMS- new healthier lunches which were okay, but mostly some of the kids have started brown-bagging their lunches because they either thought that they were nasty now or didn't get enough to eat because of sports. Some people don't _____ Verb - Base Form lunch at all because again, they think that they're too small or gross. No salad bar now, I also know that the middle school is very old because I was once in the basement in seventh grade _____ Verb - Present ends in ING with my our-time group. I must admit, there were plenty of cobwebs and old _____ adjective ends in ed students' signatures on the walls, one of the signatures I saw was my adopted dad Mike's _____ Noun on the wall from the 1980's, so I know that the middle school is real old since even my dad went to school here too. One of the worst things about the middle school that I have also learned that there is no air-conditioning in the _____ Adjective _____ heat of the summer, that the middle school is just dreadfully hot then. Well, that's all I have for you but ,but my middle school is a _____ Adjective _____ place,if you want more class freedom, then go to one today!
