Snowmobiling :)

In the summer of 2004 I went with my cousin Maddy out to our grandparent's _____ Noun _____. We were going to see what they had gotten us for Christmas. We drove along the _____ Adjective _____ winding roads out to the farm.

Maddy and I got our own snowmobile, that we had to share. It was green and black. My Uncle, Maddy, and I got dressed in our _____ Adjective _____ snow gear and hopped on the snowmobiles and tore out of the driveway.

We rode out to my grandpa's _____ Adjective _____ plowed cornfield, we covered the cornfield in winding tracks. We were _____ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ over the big and tiny snow mounds. When it was my turn to drive I was kind of shaky ,but I did ok. At first the snowmobile jerk back and forth but I got it under control. For the rest of that evening all of us were _____ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ across roads, and jumping snow piles. Then we decided to go into this gloomy dense forest. Maddy was scared and did not want to come. We rode into the _____ Adverb _____ dark woods. It was so fun _____ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ over logs, looking at the birds and having to maneuver over the path leaving winding tracks behind. When we finished riding we went back to the farm. The house was warm and smelled delicious. My grandma had made her homemade enormous double decker _____ Noun _____ chip cookies. She _____ Adverb _____ placed the _____ Noun _____ of cookie in front of us. We ate our snack, and went back to riding. Until my uncle crashed. _____ Interjection _____! It was an awesome day till the trip to the emergency room.
