The girl that loved tv and food

There once was a Noun who owned her own show about food. It was the Macy's Preposition or subordinating conjunction parade and she was teaching Proper Noun how to make a Adjective , quick and easy meal. She was working with Number other people and they were making some potatoes with garlic and Adjective Noun . She tasted a bite and thought it was so good, so she kept eating it.
Looking at the Noun , and eating. She would put the spoon back in the bowl, get another scoop, eat it, look at the camera, Verb , and put the spoon back in the Noun . Then she got caught. She got fired for food poisoning and later she owned another show called "little mistakes make a big difference."
