Travis & Aubrie

The key to a blissful marriage is simpler than it may sound. Wives love to be Past Tense Verb and Past Tense Verb. When Aubrie gets upset, bring home some Plural Thing, stare into her Plural Body Part, and tell her you love her. If that doesn't do the trick, light some Plural Thing, put on some Style Of Music music, and message her Body Part. That should do it! Now, husbands prefer to be Past Tense Verb. So if Aubrie forgets to do this regularly, Travis will start to Present Tense Verb. That's a sign that it's time to show him a little Thing. Pour him a glass of Liquid, have the TV on TV Show, and offer to massage his Plural Body Part, which are always sore after a hard day's work. That's sure to put Travis in a much better mood! Pretty easy, huh! Follow these simple steps and you're well on your way to endless marital bliss. I can almost guarantee it! Wishing you all the love and blank in the world!
