A Pig's Destiny

My name is Bacon and my friends' names are Sausage, Scrapple, Hotdog, Ham, and Pork chops.

_____ Interjection _____, we're pigs. What did you think we were, _____ Noun - Plural _____? As you can probably tell already, life is hard as a pig; I mean your destiny is decided in your name. But never fear, I have an epic escape plan. _____ Pronoun _____ idol is Wilbur the pig from Charlotte's Web, _____ Conjunction _____ as much as I tried, those spiders are as silent as a rock. _____ Adverb _____, at exactly 6:58pm, we started wobbling our way out the barn door and to the fence across the yard. We sucked our pudgy tummies in and _____ Verb - Past Tense _____ _____ Preposition _____ the fence that was holding us captive. Then I oinked the command, and we all headed to find somewhere safe we could go. After a _____ Adverb _____ long walk, and an encounter with an old lady who tried _____ Verb - Present ends in ING _____ us in the head with her 20 lb. _____ Noun _____, we came face-to-face to Giant, the supermarket. By then our stomachs were going to eat itself if we didn't get food soon. We let Ham lead the way just in case we ran into any other old ladies. Just then the most scrumptious smell filled our noses, and when we looked _____ Preposition _____, we were in the deli department. A man with a _____ Adjective _____ looking mustache held out toothpicks with some kind of delectable food on the end and handed one to all of us. By then we had puddles of drool by _____ Pronoun _____ feet, _____ Conjunction _____ as soon as the _____ Adjective _____ substance hit my tongue, I was in Heaven. The man pointed to a sign on a door that said, "If you're a fat pig and like what you just ate, then enter." _____ Interjection _____, that's the end of my story. If you want to meet my friends and me, go to Giant and get a sample of their freshly made pigs in a blanket.
