Jack and the Beanstalk

One day Jack was of it. Jack on the stalk, and again heard a noise inside. He began to wonder what was going on, but was worried he might damage the Just to be sure he really did hear something, he tapped on the beanstalk one last time. Then he was sure. He heard someone crying! He began to poke at the beanstalk, but was of damaging it. (It was his only way back home.) So he very delicately began to away the surface. He slowly and peeled the layers away, and with each layer the crying grew louder. Finally, Jack was able to see inside. Inside was something he never expected in a million years, A!!
The End
