David had moved to Ottawa so their friendship could continue to Verb . However he was always saying he was to Adjective doing laundry to play (silly boy). They went on to join a couple of Noun - Plural teams together (Adjective and ball hockey), invent a few Noun - Plural , took some Noun trips (Thunder Bay and Toronto) and had many Noun and Adjective times together. David quickly became one of Erin's Adverb best friends. An Adjective person that can always be counted on for Noun and everything. They have helped each other through thick and thin. Some of Erin's best memories of the last year are the Adjective Sunday dinners that the two have Verb - Past Participle together with their Noun - Plural , watching movies hung-over from the Noun before and making wonderful Noun and baked goods (not so much the Verb - Present Tense of new foods though). One time they went on their friendversary Noun in Gatineau and went off the Verb - Past Participle track. Legend has it that on this trip they were Verb - Past Participle by a bear and had to Verb in a home made Noun for Noun - Plural ... so the story goes. There have been many Adjective concerts, dancing nights, hikes, walks, bike Noun - Plural and talks that have just been Adjective . Erin is very Verb - Past Participle to see what the Noun holds. It will be nothing but Adjective things for two amazing Noun - Plural .
