Noun Practice #1

Last week, I took a _____ Noun to _____ Proper Noun - city name to visit the _____ noun - place of Fine _____ Noun. My son _____ Proper Noun - name and I saw several different kinds of art represented, including _____ Noun - Plural from ancient _____ proper noun - country, paintings from the _____ Adjective masters, and _____ Noun - Plural from Italy. While we _____ verb ending in -ed along the galleries, we noticed that there was a statue of a woman called " _____ Proper Noun - name." The craftsmanship was amazing - the statue looked so _____ Adjective. The plaque below stated that it had been _____ verb in _____ Proper Noun - city name in 1990.
That seemed _____ Adjective, since it looked so _____ Adjective. As we watched, we looked closely at the statue's _____ Noun. Then, it blinked! We _____ verb ending in -ed! No way! This wasn't a statue at all. It was a piece of living _____ Noun - a person dressed and decorated like a statue who stood still for hours at a time!
We left wondering what the city by the _____ Noun would offer us next.
