| A few more fireworks exploded in the air above them |
|--|
| grabbed her hand gasped silently, and looked deep into his eyes. As if by trance, |
| Your name and The selected name of the boy leaned in together, and kissed gently The selected |
| name of the boy tasted of A food you love , A scent you love and hope. It was a kiss that made both of |
| them want more. |
| |
| As they pulled away The selected name of the boy smiled atYour name "I better get going, or my |
| family member will worry." |
| |
| He stood up to go, but stood up too. "Here," she said. "Take this." And she thrusted him a |
| paper package wrapped with a colour paper. "My present. For you." |
| |
| The selected name of the boy smiled. "Thanks." Then, he leaned in, his warm breath on her cheek, and the |
| corner of his mouth tracing slightly behind her ear. "I love you," he whispered. |
| |
| Your name watched The selected name of the boy go. It was a bonfire party that she would never forget. |
