I have checked out my competition and feel as though I am the _____ Adjective - Superlative of the bunch. Okay, maybe not the best for everyone, but I did get just as _____ Adjective by the live, laugh, love comments as I am sure the _____ Adjective man does. I am not your typical gal.

About me:

I read, a lot. I love _____ Verb - Present Tense, hiking, and generally _____ Verb - Present Tense outside. I do not play hard, but I do play. I am working on becoming more fit and active, but I don't spend five days a week in the _____ Noun. I have three kids to whom I play both mother and _____ Noun to. My son is grown and lives on his own. My daughters are still at home with me. They come first, period. I am not looking for a man to step up and play daddy to them, I think I do a fair job myself. I work, have my own car, and my own shelter. I also have all my teeth!

About you:

I would prefer if you have _____ Adverb your teeth as well. Please be articulate, _____ Adverb if it is sailor articulate. I prefer the guy who can spend two hours with me without checking his phone. You need some patience, I tend to change plans on a whim. I would like a taller man. I am pretty tall myself for a girl. Basically, would like a man who see the world in the same _____^{Noun}_____ of a small child, holds a grudge like it is _____^{Noun}_____, respects me like he would expect a man to treat his daughter, mother, or sister, has a capacity for sarcasm and humor, and looks at life as an adventure.

I
