kamboom

Last Tuesday I spent most of the day glaring at my _____<sup>Noun</sup>_____, trying to figure out what I was going to give my mother for _____<sup>Noun - Plural</sup>_____ day. I could make her a collage, using various _____<sup>Noun</sup>_____ cut-outs. But I don't having any _____<sup>Noun - Plural</sup>_____ with me. I could buy her a gift, like a _____<sup>Verb - Past Participle</sup>_____ _____<sup>Noun</sup>_____ _____<sup>Coordinating conjunction</sup>_____ a _____<sup>Adjective</sup>_____ movie. But I don't have a job, which means I don't have any _____<sup>Noun</sup>_____. I could draw her a picture. Not a simple doodle but a colorful masterpiece. My baby sister could even help me with this one! After a few minutes of searching had a pretty decent amount of art supplies. Crayons, Colored pencils, markers, paint, and chalk to name a few.
