Wedding Celebration

Ryan was immediately captivated by Nancy the moment he _____ Adverb _____ her across the rooftop of Medjool restaurant, the _____ Adverb _____ in her hair, the soft lights casting a _____ Adverb _____ _____ Adverb _____ on her face, many years ago... at least that's how Nancy likes to tell the story. But, it wasn't until January 2009 that we bumped into each other on _____ Noun _____ _____ Noun _____, a _____ Noun _____ that we had both _____ Verb - Past _____ _____ Tense _____ down on a regular basis without crossing paths, that something started in earnest.

That something is what has lead us to _____ Verb - Base Form _____ our lives together. We've experienced awesome adventures around the world, lazy days lounging with friends in Dolores Park, many, many joint projects, dinner parties, an addiction to True Blood (the tv show, to be clear), two Giants World Series Wins and one 49er Superbowl appearance, career changes, ski trips that involved a lot of frustration at the beginning, lots of learning about how to be a good friend to the person you love, and at long last, the realization that although we're both very independent people, capable of existing on our own, we're definitely better off together.

Ryan is punctual, Nancy is not so much. Ryan is athletic and always enjoys a physical challenge, Nancy would much rather skip the gym and lounge at brunch for four hours. Nancy is eager to go to every event and stay out as late as possible, Ryan not so much. Nancy thinks every person is good until proven otherwise, Ryan thinks people need to earn that trust first. Together we almost make a normal, well-balanced person.
