The Rich Man and the Shoemaker

Once there lived	d a shoemaker next	to a Adjective	man. He v	/as aAdjective	e and	Adjective person. Every d	ay, the shoemaker s	sang lovely song	s while he did hi	SAdjective	work. All t	he Adjective	_ children in that _	Adjective	town loved to he	ear the shoe mak	er sing his	Adjective songs. They sat	OnAdjective	_ chairs and liste	ened to him sing	Adjective	_ songs.
The Adjective	man who live	ed next door, sta	yed awake every	night counting	his Adjectiv	ve
Adjective	Adjective	coins. He tried	to sleep during th	ne day because h	ne didn't sleep	at night. He was very disple	ased with the shoen	nakers' singing. I	He found the son	gs to beAd	jective and
Adjective	He wanted to pu	t an end to the si	nging next door.
Every day while	e he was twisting ar	nd turning in his	bed, theAdj	ective man u	sed to think, "	What can I do to make the sho	e maker stop singin	g?" One day the	Adjective	_ man thought o	of a Adjectiv	plan.
He called for the	e shoemaker. The s	hoemaker came	and asked him w	hat the matter w	vas. The	Adjective man gave him a	bag full of shiny _	Adjective	coins as a gift. T	he shoemaker w	vas surprised, b	out happily took the	djective coins. Tl	he shoemaker the	en went home ar	d stored the	Adjective	coins in his attic. He could r	not stop thinking an	d worrying abou	t somebody stea	ling his precious	Adjective	coins.
From that day o	nwards he stopped	singing!
