Letter to the Editor

There has been a lot of talk about the amount of crime in downtown _____ _____ proper noun--place lately and people wondering why there is so much. I think the answer is simple.

I have lived in _____ _____ proper noun--place all of my 62-plus years, and when I was growing up all the _____ Noun - Plural were on the outskirts or in the country, mostly out of sight. People _____
_____ Verb - Past Tense them there because of the riffraff they attracted. Nowadays it seems the idea by city planners is to attract as many _____ Noun - Plural as possible to downtown. They even _____ Verb - Past Tense the _____ Noun - Plural so they can _____ verb--present on Sunday.

Attract _____ Noun - Plural, then you _____ verb--present _____ Noun - Plural and with them comes crime. Close the beer joints disguised as _____ Noun - Plural, get them out of town and the riffraff follows them and _____ Noun goes down, leaving only law-abiding people to _____ verb--present a safer _____ Noun.

_____ Noun - Plural don't need alcohol to be successful. Look around, there are lots of them around who don't _____ verb--present alcohol, yet they thrive _____ Verb - Present ends in ING good _____ Noun - Plural at a fair price.

The ones who say they have to have alcohol sales to _____ verb--present need people to _____ verb--present the booze so they don't notice the _____ Noun is terrible or overpriced.
