

Robin Hood

1. Proper Noun
2. Noun - Plural
3. Adjective
4. Adjective
5. Verb - Past Tense
6. Noun
7. Noun - Plural
8. Verb
9. Pronoun
10. Pronoun
11. Verb - Base Form
12. Noun
13. Verb
14. Noun
15. Noun
16. Noun
17. Noun
18. Noun
19. Verb
20. Noun - Plural
21. Adjective
22. Adjective
23. Verb - Past Participle

- 24. Adjective
- 25. Noun
- 26. Noun
- 27. Adverb
- 28. Verb - Past Participle
- 29. Adjective
- 30. Verb - Past Tense
- 31. Verb - Past Participle

Robin Hood

Long ago, in _____ Proper Noun in Sherwood forest lived Robin Hood. As a boy Robin had been cheated by a few _____ Noun - Plural and since then he had decided that he would not spare the rich. He would rob the _____ Adjective and give to the _____ Adjective.

The Sheriff of Nottingham had placed many rewards for the capture of Robin Hood but nobody had ever _____ Verb - Past Tense him. Robin Hood had a number of men who served him; they had made him their _____ Noun. They acted as _____ Noun - Plural; they would warn Robin Hood whenever the Sheriff had any new plan to _____ Verb him.

The rich were scared of going through _____ Pronoun _____ Pronoun because they knew Robin Hood would _____ Verb - Base Form. The pressure mounted on the _____ Noun of Nottingham to _____ Verb Robin Hood. He went to take the help of the king. The king refused to send any of his men to help in the capture of Robin Hood.

Finally, the Sheriff thought of a plan. "Let us have a competition to choose the best _____ Noun in Nottingham. Robin Hood cannot resist such a competition. He will surely come, when he does, my guards will capture him," he told his noblemen. All of them agreed.

Now,

Robin Hood was an excellent Noun; there was none better than him with a Noun and Noun in the whole of Nottingham. And Robin Hood could surely not resist taking part in any competition to prove that he was the best.

Robin Hood's loyal men dissuaded him. "Robin, this competition is being held to Noun you," said one of the men. "It would be foolish to Verb into the lion's den," said another. But Robin Hood was not willing to listen.

So, the next day all arrangements for the competition were made. The crowds were all seated and ten Noun - Plural were there. The Sheriff turned to one of the guards and asked in a whisper, "Has Robin come?" "No, Your Highness, Robin has Adjective hair. None of the contestants have Adjective hair." The Sheriff said, "He must be Verb - Past Participle."

The competition began. William, the Sheriff's man, who had also participated and man in a Adjective outfit were vying for the first prize, a golden Noun, after ten rounds. It was time for the last arrow to be shot; the winner of this round would be declared the best Noun in Nottingham.

William took aim first and shot; it was very close to the center. The Sheriff applauded. "Good shot, William," he said. Then it was the turn of the man in green; he let go of his arrow. The crowd cheered Adverb. It went through

William's arrow and bull's eye. And within a flash the man in green let go of two more arrows which came flying towards the chair on which the Sheriff sat and stuck on either side of it. The Sheriff was _____

Verb - Past Participle

The man in green was none other than Robin Hood. Before the Sheriff recovered, he pulled off his _____ wig, threw it in the ground, _____ over a wall on to his waiting horse and was gone. "Get him, you fools. That is Robin Hood," shouted the helpless Sheriff, but it was too late. Robin Hood had _____ again.

Adjective

Verb - Past Tense

Verb - Past Participle