Sorry, Dead Dog

Just the other _____ Noun_____, my _____ group of people: friends family etc_____ and I were driving home after a Noun_____. Obviously we had a little to drink. But I was the one driving. So I only had two or three Noun_____. According to the _____ Animal_____ we hit, I may have had more. We started heading home about 11:30 or 12, so it was dark. The _____ Noun_____ was an hour or so away from my house. My _____ group of_____ people: friends family etc_____ decided to take the back way home, which was through a very wood-like place. We had to stop to relieve ourselves. So I pulled over and we got out. Once we got back in the _____ Noun_____ we turned on the radio, and a really _____ Adjective_____ song was playing. Knowing us, we started rocking out. We were just getting out of the _____ Noun_____ and that's when it happened. I had hit a sizeable _____ Animal_____. We tried to get out of there as fast as possible, and booked it home. We ran until we got to my house. I was home alone for the week, so we passed out all over the _____ Noun_____ and _____ Noun_____. I woke up about 4 in the morning to a strange clawing at the door. I went to the window by the door and looked out. I barely made out the side of a ghostly _____

Animal_____. It didn't look at me. I couldn't tell if there was the ghost of a _____ Animal_____ at my house or if it was foggy. The stubborn part of me opened up the door. I slowly cracked it. The body managed to fit through the 3 inch crack. It seemed to flow in. The face looked at me. All I saw was _____ scary adjective_____ eyes and _____ scary adjective_____ teeth coming for my face. Then I blacked out. Once I woke up again, my group of people: friends family etc_____ looked dead. I looked around and couldn't tell what happened. I saw the face of the _____ Animal_____ again, and that was that. I was dead.
