Sorry, Dead Dog

Just the other ______, my ______ group of people: friends family etc ______ and I were driving home after a Noun. Obviously we had a little to drink. But I was the one driving. So I only had two or three ______Noun_____. According to the ______Animal_____ we hit, I may have had more. We started heading home about 11:30 or 12, so it was dark. The _____ was an hour or so away from my house. My ______ group of _____ people: friends family etc _____ decided to take the back way home, which was trough a very wood-like place. We had to stop to relieve ourselves. So I pulled over and we got out. Once we got back in the ______ we turned on the radio, and a really ________ song was playing. Knowing us, we started rocking out. We were just getting out of the ______ and that's when it happened. I had hit a sizeable ______. We tried to get out of there as fast as possible, and booked it home. We ran until we got to my house. I was home alone for the week, so we passed out all over the Noun and Noun. I woke up about 4 in the morning to a strange clawing at the door. I went to the window by the door and looked out. I barely made out the side of a ghostly ______. It didn't look at me. I couldn't tell if there was the ghost of a _______ at my house or if it was foggy. The stubborn part of me opened up the door. I slowly cracked it. The body managed to fit through the 3 inch crack. It seemed to flow in. The face looked at me. All I saw was ______ eyes and scary adjective teeth coming for my face. Then I blacked out. Once I woke up again, my group of people: friends family etc looked dead. I looked around and couldn't tell what happened. I saw the face of the Animal again, and that was that. I was dead.
