HERO POWER

My life was normal enough to be considered an everyday Noun until during a work mishap, I fell into a vat of toxic Noun, now I patrol the streets of place, constantly on the run from the police. My mutation allowed me to have Adjective powers, and ability is to shoot super power from my Part of Body.

When I was on my night watch for Adjective type of criminal I saw a building robbery in progress. I got down there as Adjective I as can and took the Adjective approach. When I verb out from some cover and used my ability involving power powers to incapacitate one of the robbers and did the same to the others. Once they were knocked out I returned all of the Noun to the type of container and fled the scene. Such as the life as the Adjective Noun.
