Nancy Hart Douglas

Nancy Hart Douglas was a secret           Noun           that would always get information to the           Noun - Plural          .

She was born in 1846 in Raleigh, North Carolina. She was a determined           to                     Verb          

          Noun           to the Confederates but was also           Adjective           enough to do it. Even when she was Verb - Past Participle           she would try to do her           Adjective - Superlative           to succeed at her           Noun          . Not only was she a           Noun           she also became a           Noun          . She even had family that were           Noun - Plural          . Either way she was a loyal woman that had a big passion to have a successful life.
