How Eric and Leslie are Dealing with Pregnancy

Leslie found out she was pregnant at           Noun          . After realizing what she saw on the little stick she was           Verb - Past Participle          . She googled positive pregnancy tests on her           Noun           and realized she was really pregnant she immediately threw out her           Noun           and cried from           Noun          . She walked to her           Noun           with a           Noun           on her face and then proceeded to tell Eric via           Noun          . Eric was           Verb - Past Participle           but           Adjective           at the same time.

Eric and Leslie decided to find out the gender of the baby, they are having a           Verb - Present Tense           and naming him/her Leonardo. Eric is very concerned about the baby's development in the womb, he makes Leslie wash her hair with           Noun                     Noun           and eat           Adjective           food. Leslie just           Verb - 3rd                     Person Singular Present           at him. Once in a while Leslie craves           Proper Noun                     Proper Noun           which she eats in 2 days (by herself). Her favourite food to eat while pregnant is           Proper Noun           and she is sick of           Noun          . This drove Eric           Adjective           since he is the           Noun           in the house.

The baby's nursery is almost done, the theme is           Determiner                     Verb - Past Tense           which was inspired by           Coordinating conjunction                     Proper Noun           and Leslie's love for archeology. Eric wished it would be a           Proper Noun                     Proper Noun                     Proper Noun           theme.

The baby is due in           Proper Noun          , Leslie hopes to get some           Coordinating conjunction           time and relax by the pool. She wonders if she will deliver the baby in a Noun. Eric thinks she is Adjective.
