Post Department

The HCO Post Department is getting ready for a _____ Adjective June! We've been reliving the _____ Adjective 1960s, preparing for the premiere of "The Sixties" and its series run through June. At the same time, we'll be diving into our Sixties work and getting a few more episodes out of the _____ Part of Building! Walk _____ Adverb through Post, or you might run into a delivery going out. In the meantime, stay out of Edit 8 if you don't want to groove to the _____ Favorite Sixties Band.

We are bodypart-deep in Dawn of the Planet of the _____ Plural Animal (plural), knocking out EPK and starting on DVD. The more we work on it, the more we like the idea of it - a world run by _____ Favorite Post Dog doesn't seem too bad, if you love naps.

We're like kids again as we wrap up Transformers: Age of Extinction marketing and keep going strong on the DVD to create some killer behind-the-scenes pods. Filming in China? Check. Blowing up _____ Building Structure ? Check. Dinosaurs? Can neither confirm nor deny. All we can say is, _____ Generic Mark Wahlberg Quote.

If you prefer singing to explosions, stop by Post to catch our early work on Fabricate and Pitch Perfect 2. Our Edit Bays are sounding more and more like karaoke bars, minus _____ Decade With The Best Hair power ballads.

Like the _____ Adjective West? Our A Million Ways to Die in the West editors are cranking out DVD and Retail content faster than you can . . . well . . . die in the old West. Like from a falling Household Object. Or Eradicated Disease. Or a saloon fight over Minor Issue to Disagree About. Scary times.

Legacy and Simons Says are both getting the Sizzle treatment at HCO this June, which is great if you want to get from the forests of National Park to the wilds of the fashion industry. And we're taking plenty of Bollywood breaks for Indian Dish as we keep trucking with Piquant.
