Zach & Scott June 14, 2014

When I first hear that Zach and Scott were getting married, I shouted           exclamation          ! They are the Adjective           couple ever, and I wish them many           Adjective                     Noun - Plural           for years to come. A few words of advice as you enter this           Adjective           union... Don't forget to           Verb - Base Form           before you Verb - Base Form          . Zach, you should always           Verb - Base Form           Scott's           Noun          . And Scott, no matter how           Adjective           Zach gets, you still can't           Verb - Base Form           him. Congrats! I wish you a lifetime of           Noun - Plural          ,           Noun - Plural          , and           Noun - Plural          . XOXO           Your name here
