

Sink or Swim

1. Noun - Plural
2. Animal (Plural)
3. Noun
4. Verb
5. Adjective
6. Noun
7. Verb - Base Form
8. Verb - Base Form
9. Verb - Base Form
10. Verb - Base Form
11. Verb - Base Form
12. Verb - Base Form
13. Part Of Body
14. Adjective
15. Noun
16. Adjective

Sink or Swim

Cassidy sat poised in her chair as former _____ Noun - Plural filed onto the soundstage at WBC in New York.

Together, the studio audience and television _____ Animal (plural) had watched the recorded footage of her walking the _____ Noun. Gabriel would now _____ Verb the competitors from the inaugural season one final time.

More importantly, he would announce her prize. If it erased most of her debts, then it would at least make this whole _____ Adjective experience worthwhile. Cassidy's _____ Noun kicked in her chest and sweat moistened her brow.

As one of her old teammates entered, her heart rate _____ Verb - Base Form for a different reason. Josh Sanchioni slid into a bucket seat, carrying himself stiffer than normal in his sharp gray _____ Verb - Base Form. Studio lights caught his sunbleached strawberry blonde waves, brightening the reddish gold tints.

Cassidy slipped her gaze to his leather _____ Verb - Base Form. If Josh hadn't been engaged, they could have been an item. Instead, they'd been good friends until that one evening when the cameras were off and they almost _____ Verb - Base Form. They'd both realized their mistake and backed away. Things were strained until Josh _____ Verb - Base Form the plank a week later.

Tonight, not only did Cassidy have to face Josh, she would probably meet his _____ Verb - Base Form.

Her cheeks heating, Cassidy focused on the competitor beside Josh as a distraction. Adam Horton sat erect, _____ Part of Body folded in the lap of his olive green khakis. He wasn't military, but he dressed like an Army wannabe. His _____ Adjective eyes drilled into Cassidy, his angular face revealing the shape of bones underneath.

A blond _____^{Noun}_____ darkened his pointy chin.

Cassidy shuddered involuntarily. Adam never said much, but he made her _____^{Adjective}_____ just the same.