Alice Playing Guild Wars

Once upon a time there lived a           Noun           named           Proper Noun          . She once got           Noun - Plural           peppers which were worth like           Number           gold. Dayum, she gonna be hella           Noun           now. Although, she's not cause she spent all her money on new           Noun          . Seriously, how the           Noun           did she get           Adverb          . Like           Verb          , she's not even kidding. However, she's           Verb - Present Tense          . Ah. Y'all need to watch my           Noun           though, cause you won't           Verb           this. It's           Adverb           a different           Noun           than what she was playing with when           Proper Noun           was at her house. Ah yeah,           Number          % complete. Dayum, look at this scenery. These graphics though. Ooo, I can go over there. I can go on an           Noun           guys.           Noun           and           Noun          .           Noun           and           Noun          .           Proper Noun          , I dared another guy to do a           Noun           off of this one part but then I           Verb - Past Tense           him. I can't even explain how           Adjective           that sounds. Aw hell yeah, I           Verb - Past Tense           out where I'm gonna go. Why are there so many           Noun - Plural           in this area? Dayum, there's so many           Adjective           guys. Ah yeah, I'm almost done. Where am I? There is absolutely nothing in here that is useful to the           Noun          . It's           Adjective           as           Noun          . I think I have to           Verb           where I'm supposed to go because it's           Verb - Present Tense           my           Noun - Plural          .           Verb - Present Tense          , there's like           Number           charging after me. Duck and roll. Duck and roll,           Proper Noun          . If you didn't know           Proper Noun          , my           Noun           in this           Noun           is a           Adjective           Plant. Seriously, I saw Groot from Guardians of the Galaxy. And then I           Verb - Past Tense           him. I'm just gonna go down here. Take a chance. Is it like a           Noun          ?
