

Happy Halloween

1. Noun
2. Noun
3. Noun - Plural
4. Noun - Plural
5. Adverb
6. Noun
7. Noun
8. Adjective
9. Location
10. Noun
11. Repeated Noun
12. Noun
13. Part Of Body
14. Part Of Body
15. Adjective
16. Repeated Noun
17. Repeated Noun

Happy Halloween

The thing to remember, when you go to _____ Noun

Is hang strings of _____ Noun, high over your head,

So _____ Noun - Plural and _____ Noun - Plural won't come to call.

In fact,

You won't get many callers at all

_____ Repeat Last Noun is _____ Adverb.

Besides,

its success with _____ Noun creatures

Who visit distress on _____ Noun who read _____ Adjective stories at night,

And sleep in their _____ Location, without a _____ Noun.

The thing to remember, when you go to _____ Repeated Noun

Is putting a _____ Noun, at your _____ Part of Body and your _____ Part of Body,

'Cause witches and vampire bats are _____ Adjective

_____ Repeat Last Noun gives them hideous

Goosebumps and warts,

Hives, the welts and the itches,

Which

nobody likes, even vampire bats and witches.

But try not to toss or to turn in your _____ Repeated Noun _____.

If you kick off the crosses you're gonna wake the dead.

The thing to remember, when you go to _____ Repeated Noun _____

Is watch out for goblins, who'll munch on your head.

What stops them is water, so ask for a glass,

Then pour it around, so the goblins can't pass.

Or else make a run for the bathroom and turn on the hot and cold faucets and watch goblins squirm.

As a last chance,

since goblins all fear running streams,

If you don't own a bathroom, dream water-filled dreams.

So, that's my advice.

Now, just turn off the light.

Hope you sleep well the next Halloween Night!

