Living on a farm

I live on a Adjective farm with my family member - aunt etc. We get up every day at number between one and twelve o'clock to the sound of our Animal verb with ING. We feed the Animal (plural), collect a handful of Adjective Animal eggs, verb the Noun, milk the Animal (plural) and lay down some plural food for the horses. We also have a pen of Adjective Animal (plural) and a bunch of goats for making the best tasting plural food! Last week, our chicken named persons name had baby Animal (plural), a whole Number of them! My same family member sells specialty Animal plural food and Adjective -grown turkeys during the holidays, everyone loves them! He also lets me drive the transportation which is most fun, I take my dog with me who's a half poodle and half Animal and he loves it! When relatives stay over, we all go Animal -back verb with ING and fruit picking. There is so much to do on a farm when you're Adjective. Some days are hectic, but most days are Adjective!!
