Slips trips and falls

Santa was not paying _____ Noun to where he was going. He was looking up at his magnificent Christmas decorations and tripped over his _____ Adjective pants. He slipped on the hard _____ Adjective ground in front of the toy shop. Three elves ran to his aid. The first tripped over the festive array of Christmas presents stacked along the walkway. The second _____ Verb - Past Tense on reindeer poop that had not yet been cleaned up. The third _____ Verb - Past Tense off the sleigh loading dock in an attempt to reach Santa first.

The three wounded elves finally made their way over to poor, groaning and disoriented Santa still laying on the icy ground. The first elf, bent _____ Adjective at the waist, _____ Verb - Past Tense around and tried his to lift Santa, until he felt a shooting pain running through his lower back. Yep, you guessed it...he dropped poor Santa right back onto the ice. The second elf, who was standing nearby, reached out in an attempt to _____ Verb him only to be nearly crushed under the weight of jolly ol' St. Nick. The third elf shook his head in utter frustration. "Don't you know that you should always stand close to the _____ Noun you are lifting, _____ Adjective, keep your back _____ Adverb and push up slowly with your _____ Noun - Plural."

Hearing the commotion, Mrs. Clause attempted to peer out the window, but could not see anything due to the fact that she is only 5'2 and 3/4. So, she strapped on some fancy designer high _____ Noun - Plural and stepped up on a _____ Noun for a better view out her kitchen window. Sadly, she fell over and landed face first into a pile of Christmas cookies. Buddy the elf heard her crying out for help and quickly entered the kitchen only to trip over an open Noun.

The next day, Santa called an emergency Adjective meeting. They discussed the importance of paying attention to your surroundings, walking Adverb (not running), keeping walkways Adjective, and Verb - Present Tense up spills promptly. The elves agreed not to Verb off the loading dock anymore and came up with a Noun to de-ice all the walkways in Toyland every evening. Mrs. Clause was reluctantly persuaded to give up her fancy designer shoes in favor of Adjective shoes with Adjective soles. She agreed that chairs should not be used as step ladders and that Adjective drawers are a dangerous Noun and should not ever be left open.

Everyone was ok in the end, accept for a few Noun - Plural and bruises. Santa did not have to cancel Christmas after all, but he did have to deliver presents in a Noun brace.
