how I cheated on my math test.

I had a really hard Proper Noun test yesterday and believe it or not but I actually Verb - Past Tense my test. The only thing is I Verb - Past Participle, that's the only reason I got a good Noun. I feel so Adjective my mom and dad are so Adjective of me, and there is no way in the world I am telling them the Noun. If I told them I Verb - Past Tense on the test they would be so Adjective in me. I mean there throwing me a party and everything, they are calling it First Name of a Person finally got a good grade party. I don't want a party I don't really deserve it after all. Why do I have to feel so Adjective about what I did? I mean I didn't do anything Adjective, first of all I am always in home room like Number minutes early, which leaves me Number minutes alone in the room by Pronoun. I don't think it's my fault that the teacher happened to leave the answer sheet lying on her desks. Like who wouldn't just hurry and make a copy of it before the teacher got back into the room. I believe she left it there so I could Verb on my test; after all it was in plain view. Alright, alright I know what you're thinking I should tell the Noun and tell my teacher I Verb - Past Tense. I just don't know what to tell my mom and dad. Don't stare at me like that I hate it when you give me that look. Fine I will tell my teacher first thing in the morning. So Ben I told my teacher and it turns out I have to retake the test but this time with much Adjective - Comparative questions and answers. Well I quets I do Verb it. I just hope by telling the truth I did the Adjective thing. I'll be back in Number minutes. Hey ben guess what I passed the test with a c- I am so freaking proud of myself that was a Adjective hard test. Way to go says: First Name of a Person finally you admitted to what you had done and you played the consequences and still did well, I am so Adjective of you.
