potty training

So! Your toddler is all _____<sup>Past tense verb</sup> up and still _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup> itself. That's ok, we have a

Your _____<sup>Noun</sup> may be a bit _____<sup>Adjective</sup> at first, but they'll warm up to it. They might still
the _____<sup>Noun</sup> is for. Tell them that it is for _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup> and _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup> in, and that even though they have a _____<sup>Noun</sup> it is not for _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup> and _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup> in anymore. They are now a _____<sup>Adjective</sup> kid. If that doesn't work, have them _____<sup>Verb</sup> on the potty every hour on the _____<sup>Noun</sup> to see if they'll _____<sup>Verb</sup> in it. If your toddler still _____<sup>Present tense verb</sup> then you can just go ahead and keep them in a _____<sup>Noun</sup> with some _____<sup>Plural noun</sup>. Just _____<sup>Verb ending in ing</sup>.
That's child abandonment. Just _____<sup>Verb</sup> the best you can and hope your _____<sup>Noun</sup> stops peeing on itself.
