Literacy Works' Tribute to Literacenter

working out of our home offices. While this has worked for us, we often thought about how - Adjective and Adjective it would be if we had a place to come together to work, learn, and -verb-. Along came the Literacenter, -adverb- making our dream come true! When we first toured this place, we said -one word exclamation!--and -one word exclamation! We realized that we would have the chance to -verb- with such -adjective- organizations as Open Books and Working in the Schools. Plus, the amenities are great. We'll have full use of the -noun-, along with meeting and event space. And, did you see the scooters? When we need to -verb-, we can do it super fast! The staff at the Literacenter are -adverb- -adjective-, which is our way of saying amazingly helpful. We plan to stick around here until -year far into the future. By then, we probably will have trained about -really high number- volunteers and professionals to work with adults to improve their literacy skills.

Thank you for -verb ending in ing- with us in our new space! We are -adjective- to have you here.
