An Animal and the Bee (nouns)

There was a _____ Noun and a bee, the first lived in a _____ Noun, and the second lived on a _____ Noun. The bear was very hungry and the bee lost his _____ Family member. When they woke up, they both started to smell the yummy _____ Noun of honey from far away. The _____ Noun stretched its _____ Body part and the bee stretched its _____ Body part, and off they went to look for the source of that _____ Adjective smell. Following the smell, the _____ Noun kept hearing _____ Noun flapping, while the bee kept hearing a _____ Noun sniffing. They were afraid that someone was following them, so they started to sneak through the _____ Noun. The whole time, the _____ Noun did not know that he was beside the bee, and the bee did not know that he was beside the _____ Noun. When they arrived at the honey they saw a hive. The bear thought, "Time to _____ Verb - Base Form!" and the bee thought, "Here is my _____ Family member!" and they both rushed for the hive. The _____ Noun stuck his _____ Body part into it but because the bee was faster, the _____ Noun ended up putting the bee into his mouth, too. But then the hive woke up and started to attack the _____ Noun. But the bear was so happy with his honey that he did not notice the stings. Well, the bee wanted to come out of the _____ Noun's mouth and say "Hi," so he stung the _____ Noun from inside and the _____ Noun finally screamed "Ouch!" and started to run away. "Finally," though the bee as he started to fly out to meet his _____ Family member, but when the bear screamed the bee got caught in some _____ Noun around the _____ Noun's mouth. In the end, the _____ Noun lost his _____ Noun of honey and the bee lost his _____ Family member, again.
