B Club

On Saturday, March 24, 1984, five students report at 7:00 a.m. for all-day _____ School in Shermer, Illinois. While not complete strangers, each of them comes from a different clique, and they seem to have nothing in common: the beautiful and _____ Claire Standish, the state champion _____ Andrew Clarke, the bookish Brian Johnson; the _____ Allison Reynolds, and the rebellious John Bender.

They gather in the high school library, where assistant principal Richard Vernon instructs them not to _____, move from their seats, or _____ for the next eight hours and 54 minutes. He assigns them a 1,000-word essay, in which each must describe "who you think you _____." He then leaves, returning only occasionally to check on them. Bender, who has a particularly antagonistic relationship with Vernon, ignores the rules and frequently riles up the other students, _____ Brian and Andrew and _____ Claire. Allison is initially quiet, except for the occasional random

The students pass the hours by _____, _____, and, at one point, smoking _____ that Bender retrieves from his locker. Gradually, they open up to each other and reveal their deepest personal secrets: Allison is a compulsive _____; Andrew can't easily think for himself; John comes from an abusive _____; Brian has attempted _____ due to a bad

and years of pressure of his overbearing parents; and Claire is a Noun who feels constant pressure from her friends. They also discover that they all have strained relationships with their parents: Allison's parents Verb - Base Form her due to their own problems; Andrew's father constantly criticizes his efforts at Verb - Present ends in ING and pushes him as hard as possible; John's father verbally and physically Verb - Present ends in S both John and his Noun; Brian's parents put immense pressure on him to get good Noun - Plural and keep it that way; and Claire's parents use her to get back at each other during frequent arguments. The students realize that even with their differences, they face similar pressures and complications in their lives.

Despite their differences in social status, the group begins to form Noun - Plural (and even romantic relationships) as the day progresses. Claire makes it her mission to show Allison just how Adjective she really is, and Allison's new look sparks the romantic interest of Andrew, who is stunned when Allison's abstract noun is revealed. Claire decides to break her "pristine" virgin appearance by Verb - Present ends in ING Bender in the closet and giving him a Noun. Although they suspect that the relationships would end with the end of their detention, their mutual experiences would change the way they would look at their peers afterward.

As the detention comes to its final moments, the group requests that Brian complete the essay for everyone, and Brian agrees, leaving the essay in the library for Vernon to read after they leave. The students part ways outside the school. Allison and Andrew _____verb int_____, as do Claire and John. Allison rips Andrew's state champion patch from his letterman jacket to _____Verb - Base Form_____, and Claire gives John one of her diamond _____Noun -_____ Plural_____, which he attaches to his _____body part_____. Vernon reads Brian's essay (read by Brian in voice-over), in which Brian states that Vernon has already judged who they are, "in the simplest terms, in the most convenient definitions: a _____Noun_____, an _____Noun_____, a _____Noun_____ case, a _____Noun_____, and a _____Noun_____." Brian signs the letter as "The _____abstract noun_____ Club." As the movie ends, John _____Verb - Present ends in S_____ his _____body part_____ in triumph as he walks across the football field for home.
