Little Red Riding Hood

Once upon a time there lived in a certain village a little country girl, the prettiest who was ever seen. Her mother was excessively fond of her; and her grandmother doted on her still more. This good woman had a little red riding hood made for her. It suited the girl so extremely well that everybody called her Proper Noun Red Riding Hood.
One day her mother, having made some cakes, said to her, "Go, my dear, and see how your grandmother is doing , for I hear she has been very ill. Take her a Noun , and this little pot of Noun ."
Little Red Riding Hood set out immediately to go to her grandmother, who lived in another village.
As she was going through the wood, she met with a wolf, who had a very great mind to eat her up, but he dared not, because of some working nearby in the forest. He asked her where she was going. The poor child, who did not know that it was to stay and talk to a wolf, said to him, "I am going to see my grandmother and carry her a Noun and a little pot of Noun from my mother."
"Does she live far off?" said the wolf
"Oh I say," answered Red Riding Hood; "it is beyond that mill you see there, at the house in the village."
"Well," said the wolf, "and I'll go and her too. I'll go this way and go you that, and we shall see who will be there first."
The wolf as fast as he could, taking the path, and the little girl took a roundabout way, Pronoun herself by gathering nuts, running after butterflies, and gathering bouquets of little flowers
