sniping story

running that's all I ever do know. from the past the government why does this always happen to me. I hear bullets whiz past my head as I continue through the hills of Oklahoma. flash back.

the year is 2020 and the president announces the rise of a new era of peace and control. I look over at Mike and say are you ready? we were _____ Noun _____ in a building with two snipers getting ready to kill the president. all the connections and people who want change to make war and not peace. we had gotten a group to kill the leader. as he walks to the stage I look down my scope and wait for a few seconds and breathe in then out and pull the trigger.
